

I See

Looking around I see
Bodies I don't know fall,
And souls grieving their deceased
They cannot call

I see the sick shiver and sweat
As they try to defeat
This disease that has
Taken over us all

I see families needing Assistance
And becoming Unable
To feed their children
Due to the sudden loss
Of their incomes

For others, I see their homes
Morphing into prisons
As the silence orbiting them
Becomes too loud to ignore

Yet I sit here waiting for
Things to return,
Knowing they have changed
Too much to ever revert to
How they once were